C2C ANNOUNCES FURTHER CHANNEL EXPANSION IN ASIA PACIFIC

C2C signs ACA Pacific as Master Distributor to market enterprise messaging solutions to enhance email management, reduce risk associated with email and improve use of system resources in Singapore

Singapore, - April 21, 2008 – C2C, the leading provider of email data management solutions, today announced the expansion of its market into Singapore with the appointment of ACA Pacific Technology (S) Pte Ltd (“ACA Pacific”).

As a master distributor, ACA Pacific will market Archive One and MaX Compression to an extensive channel of the nation’s top system integrators and VARs. Archive One brings powerful competitive advantages to resellers seeking to add a complementary email archiving solution to their existing enterprise, small and medium business storage offerings and technology portfolios.

“ACA Pacific’s capabilities within the storage environment and support structure will enable implementation of C2C’s best-of-breed email archiving solutions that span from the enterprise to the mainstream SMB market”, added Dave Hunt, CEO at C2C.

Mark Gill, Managing Director of ACA Pacific noted, “With C2C solutions on board, ACA will now be able to market a comprehensive total storage offering that includes archiving as a key area of growth to our partners and customers. Customers who need to look into effective and robust data storage with an additional requirement for legal compliance will now benefit from the solution. Archive One not only offers secure, indexed email archive, it also reduces storage volumes for our customers which indirectly help to improve their system performance and reduces their backup/restore time.”

C2C’s Archive One solution effectively helps organizations resolve email capacity management, enforce email retention policies and comply with various regulatory requirements regarding the use and retention of email, such as Sarbanes-Oxley, Freedom of Information Act, and SEC directives. Archive One technology is built on an advanced analytical search and policy enforcement engine, made up of more than 50 analysis criteria used throughout the product line to centralize, automate and accelerate tasks which reduce risk associated with email and improve system usage.

Archive One is the only leading email archiving solution independent of a database for indexing, making it faster to install and easier to manage. The recent release of Federated Search capabilities has taken Archive One into the wider world of Enterprise application integration and ahead of most competitors.

In addition to their award winning Archive One solution, C2C provides additional product offerings to greatly improve the efficiency and ease of use of any email system.
